Welcome to the 51st Annual Conference of the North American Association of Summer Sessions!

Our conference theme, Innovation in the Summer, is a fitting reflection of the professionals that make up our association. Clodus Smith, our first president, said that "organizations do for people what as individuals people cannot do for themselves; our ideas, our efforts, our initiative constitute the organization". It is my pleasure to convene North America’s summer experts who together contribute knowledge and best practices to higher education.

This year, we honor the 25-year membership of Columbia University and SUNY—The College at Brockport. When they joined in 1989, the best was yet to come: barcoding for non-profit mailing, the World Wide Web, e-mail communication, Google ads, data mining, online education and the technology we now use to recruit, admit, register and teach our students. Many a conversation at NAASS over the years has focused on summer as the "guinea pig", the trial launch of a new system. NAASS members continue to be courageous innovators.

I often refer to Summer Academe’s many papers on teaching in an intensive format and the impact of summer on retention and graduation rates. As well, I often reference the experiences shared in our blog, our webinars, and our online conference proceedings. NAASS members continue to openly share best practices, and set-backs, for the advancement of our field.

The Chattanooga Conference is no different. Thanks to President-Elect Laurel Hogue and her team of plenary speakers and presenters, we will continue to learn from each other and further our profession.

As a volunteer association, we are always looking for colleagues who wish to contribute to our mission. Please join a committee, write for Summer Academe, present at next year’s conference or take a stab at a webinar!

Mostly, please contribute to our knowledge base by offering your advice to member’s postings on our blog and answering the call for your summer numbers so we can continue with our research initiatives.

Have a wonderful conference, enjoy Chattanooga, and remember to check your passport for next year’s conference in Montreal, Quebec Province, Canada.

PRE-CONFERENCE SESSIONS

NEW ADMINISTRATORS WORKSHOP
9 AM - 3:30 PM
Rose
This workshop is limited to 30, on a first-come basis. The New Administrator's Workshop provides a valuable opportunity for new - or almost new - summer session administrators to share experiences and learn together. The purpose is to provide you with an overview of summer session administration and the basic skills for success. The workshop is planned to let you reflect and organize your thoughts and help answer some of the questions you may have. Five key areas of summer session administration will be examined: organization, curriculum, program planning, finance, and marketing. As a new administrator, you come to summer sessions with different experiences and different perspectives. This highly interactive workshop will provide you with an opportunity to reflect on what you already know about your university, administration, faculty, and programs, and merge your knowledge with new information.

Facilitators: Jon Neidy, Executive Director, Smith Career Center, Bradley University and Ben Perkins, Director of Summer Sessions, Washington University

IPEDS WORKSHOP
9 AM - 4 PM
Roberts
The Association for Institutional Research (AIR) and the North American Association of Summer Sessions (NAASS) are co-hosting an IPEDS Workshop for data providers and users in conjunction with the 51st Annual NAASS National Conference. Funding for this workshop is provided by the National Center for Education Statistics (NCES).

This workshop features these training modules: IPEDS Data as the Public Face of an Institution and IPEDS Data and Benchmarking: Supporting Decision Making and Institutional Effectiveness.

PRECONFERENCE WORKSHOP
Work - Life Balance. Lost it? Get it Back!
9 AM - 12 PM
Kelley

Presenters: Brian Udermann, Director of Online Education, University of Wisconsin LaCrosse

Ask the average person nowadays how they are doing and they will usually say "I'm just so ___!" Our work environments are often fast-paced and hectic, we are continually being asked to do more with less. Our home environments can at times, be overwhelming as well with running children to numerous practices and events, taking care of the yard, cooking, cleaning and completing house related projects. When was the last time you really felt at peace or felt centered and full of joy? How are you at controlling stress in your life? Would you like to laugh more, eat healthier, and sleep better? Would you like to have a better relationship with your family and your friends? This presentation will explore a number of practical strategies you can use to regain a healthy balance in your life!

Introduction of Keynote Speaker: Sarah Harkness, Director of Summer & Winter Sessions, East Tennessee State University

Keynote Speaker: Dr. Steven Nash, Assistant Professor, ETSU

"Leadership Lessons from the Civil War Battles Around Chattanooga." It examines the leadership styles of the generals who commanded the armies that fought at Chickamauga and Chattanooga. A primary emphasis is placed on dissecting the personalities and approaches applied by Ulysses S. Grant and Braxton Bragg. Both men were professionally trained officers with Mexican War experience, yet they achieved very different results when they rose to command their own armies in the Civil War. Grant developed close relationships with officers who he trusted to perform within his strategic vision, while Bragg's acerbic personality and gruff manner undermined his otherwise strong plans.

CONCURRENT SESSIONS 1
9:30-10:30 AM

1. TWELVE STRATEGIES TO PROMOTE ONLINE GROWTH WHILE ENSURING QUALITY
Amphitheater

There continues to be a tremendous amount of interest in online education, this is coming from students, faculty and administrators. However, with increased interest and growth in online education come challenges as well. Who oversees online education on your campus? What policies and procedures are in place to govern online programming? What professional development opportunities are available to your faculty? What data can you collect and analyze to drive decisions related to online programming? How are you ensuring quality of online courses and programs? This informative presentation will cover twelve practical strategies you can implement on your campus to promote online growth while ensuring quality.

Presenter: Brian Udermann, Director of Online Education, University of Wisconsin LaCrosse

2. IT'S A GRANT, IT'S A LOAN! NO, IT'S THE INNOVATIVE SUMMER PROGRAM DEVELOPMENT FUND
Roberts

Now in its fifth year, the Syracuse University Innovative Summer Program Development Fund (iFund) is designed to assist faculty in developing programs that will attract new students to Summer@Syracuse. The iFund is a resource for faculty who want to bring new ideas to life through credit and noncredit summer course offerings. The iFund takes the financial risk off SU schools & colleges by paying faculty to develop the courses on overload during the Spring semester. More than 50 Summer@Syracuse courses have been funded since the program began in 2011 and these courses have generated more than 900 student enrollments in summer sessions. If you've ever envisioned a program that will motivate your faculty and interest your students in unique new ways, the iFund can help make it happen. See how Summer@Syracuse minimized risk and maximized reward in the promotion of innovative course development specifically for summer. It's not a loan. It's not a grant. It's the iFund!

Presenters: Chris Cofer, Director, Summer@Syracuse, Syracuse University

3. WINTER SESSION SHOULD BE IN YOUR FUTURE

Kelley

As higher education institutions consider opportunities to improve student access, increase student retention, improve graduation rates, provide faculty additional compensation, and add new institutional revenue streams, implementing a winter session could be the answer. Come hear how these three institutions successfully present their winter session.

Presenters: Bill McClure, Exec Director, Continuing & Professional Education, University of Massachusetts Amherst; Beth Laves, Associate Vice President Extended Learning & Outreach, Western Kentucky University and Sarah Harkness, Director of Summer & Winter Sessions, East Tennessee State University

BREAK

10:30 - 10:45 AM

PLENARY SESSION: New Students, New Revenue and the Online Opportunity

10:45 AM - 11:45 PM

3. INCENTIVIZING THE DEVELOPMENT OF INNOVATIVE SUMMER COURSES AND PROGRAMS: LESSONS LEARNED

Presenter: Chris Cofer, Director, Summer@Syracuse, Syracuse University

This presentation will outline the process of building at UConn a brand-new program for incoming freshmen and transfer students from scratch in just over six months. The focus of the presentation will be on the process of building this type of program—how we identified the key building blocks, what obstacles we faced as we moved forward (the stumbles we made), what we learned along the way, and how this experience is already guiding our planning process for next year. Our hope is that, in sharing both our successes and our challenges, we will offer to other institutions, not a perfect road map, but a realistic assessment of what it takes to build, from the ground up, such a program.

Presenters: Chris Cofer, Director, Summer@Syracuse, Syracuse University

CONCURRENT SESSIONS 2 2 - 3 PM

1. THE RACE TO THE FINISH: CONSTRUCTING A NEW SUMMER PROGRAM FOR INCOMING FRESHMEN

2. SUMMER SESSIONS ANNUAL REPORTING: A DISCUSSION ON WHAT TO INCLUDE, WHO TO INCLUDE, AND MORE! - ROUNDTABLE

Walker

University administrators often find planning and analysis to be at the forefront of their job duties. In Summer Sessions, we are often asked to report on enrollment numbers, financials, faculty data, and more. To keep all the information in one place, many institutions have utilized a Summer Sessions Annual Report. This open discussion is intended to help administrators with reporting content and target audience(s). We will discuss topics to include in the report such as enrollment, student demographics, and financials; as well as a discussion on the different viewers of the report. If you would like to bring copies of your annual report to share with the group, please do so! We also encourage questions that might help your report reach its greatest potential.

Facilitators: Alicia Bingham, Coordinator, Summer Sessions/Winter Term, Western Kentucky University and Claire Cross, Director of Summer Session, Oregon State University

3. INCENTIVIZING THE DEVELOPMENT OF INNOVATIVE SUMMER COURSES AND PROGRAMS: LESSONS LEARNED

Amphitheater

The purpose of the initiative was to promote the creation of innovative new summer courses/programs that would provide undergraduate students with experiences that would ultimately add value to their degrees from Clemson University. The Office of Summer School developed the Clemson University innovative summer course proposal (CUISP) initiative to incentivize the development of high engagement summer courses/programs. Two lessons learned from the launch of the CUISP initiative include: developing implementation milestones and connecting grant disbursements with milestone achievement, and a need for earlier faculty and department involvement with marketing and promotion. Ideas for the next RFP are focused on re-tooling existing courses for summer session format, featuring more student engagement.
SCHEDULE OF EVENTS

Presenters: Blake Snider, Director of Summer School and De Morris Walker, Graduate Assistant, Clemson University

4. FLAT RATE + BANKED SUMMER HOURS = 1000 SUMMER STUDENT ENROLLMENT INCREASE

Roberts

The University of Oklahoma changed to a flat rate tuition policy in Summer 2013 with the added benefit of allowing students to bank hours for Summer 2014 if they took less than 30 hours in Fall and Spring. The banked hours policy allows students to take summer courses without having to pay tuition or mandatory fees for their summer courses. This presentation will describe the concepts and goals of the change to flat rate, the implementation of the new policy, and the data from enrollment and financials after a summer of banked hours on our campus.

Presenters: Steven Lee, Asst. Director of OU Summer Session and Robin Stroud, Assistant Vice President, University of Oklahoma

CONCURRENT SESSIONS 3

1. SUMMER BRIDGE PROGRAMS

Rose

Student Success and Completion how can you make a difference? Come learn about developing a Summer Bridge Program that saves students development education courses, money and prepares them to successfully navigate campus.

Presenters: Tiffany Evans, Director Summer Semester, Utah Valley University

2. DIFFERENCES IN SUMMER SESSION ADMINISTRATIVE STRUCTURES: ASSESSMENT OF POTENTIAL EFFECT ON PERFORMANCE OUTCOMES

THERESA NEIL RESEARCH MEMORIAL GRANT FUNDED

Amphitheater

Although there is much conjecture about the relative merits of different organizational models affecting the summer term, there is little evidence about whether differences in these models affect overall performance outcomes. This presentation reports on the second part of a two-phase study aimed at 1) determining how summer sessions are organized at NAASS, NCCSS, WASSA, and AUSS member institutions to better understand the range and diversity of summer session organizations, and (2) examining whether these organizational differences affect performance-based outcomes important to the success of the summer term. The presentation will look at the 134 member institutions completing the 38-item survey in terms of organizational structures. As well, it reports on the findings of an outcomes questionnaire and the extent to which differences in organizational structures might affect selected student-based and finance-based performance outcomes.

Presenter: Bill Kops, Professor and Director of Summer Session, University of Manitoba

3. A CONVERSATION ON CREATIVITY AND ORGANIZATIONAL CHANGE - ROUNDTABLE

Walker

Summer Session programs can (and must) be nimble in ways not possible within the academic year enterprise – tapping new markets, utilizing campus resources in new ways, offering alternative delivery methods, and packaging educational experiences in timeframes other than the typical semester length. Where is the place for creativity in Summer Sessions? Come and share your thoughts with others in a broad ranging discussion designed to stimulate and energize!

Facilitator: Auden Thomas, Director, Summer Academic Programs & Residencies, Skidmore College

DINNER AFFINITY GROUPS

6 PM
1. SUMMER AT CAROLINA: BUILDING A SEMESTER

Roberts

In 2013, the traditional three-session summer schedule at the University of South Carolina was reconfigured into eight sessions of varying length that function collectively as a third semester. This presentation will outline the structural changes required to implement this program; give an overview of academic initiatives developed specifically for the summer term; and report on early indices of success.

Presenters: Mary Anne Fitzpatrick, Vice Provost for Special Initiatives and Virginia Nickles Osborne, Academic Planner, University of South Carolina

2. SHAPING THE ACADEMIC ENVIRONMENT FOR SUMMER VISITING STUDENTS

Amphitheater

As a starting point, we will focus on the experience, viewpoints, and practices of two types of schools: a larger state institution (UIC) and a mid-size private school (Loyola). The presentation will emphasize how we dovetail and connect with university resources to manage visiting students in the summer. This will underline some best practices, but also give ideas to other summer staff about how to manage visiting student for their institutions. We would like to add a discussion portion, gathering ideas about how to improve the visiting student experience along with gathering information on policies and procedures of other institutions. We will highlight practices from the following areas: Customer service: Application, enrollments, staffing; Curriculum; Academic advising structure.

Presenters: Maria Lettiere, Assistant Director, Communications & Academic Affairs, Loyola University of Chicago and Natalie Kokoruda, Assistant Director, Summer Sessions, University of Illinois at Chicago
3. CURFEW OR NOT TO CURFEW: INSTITUTIONAL PERSPECTIVES ON SUPERVISION OF MINORS ON CAMPUS - ROUNDTABLE

Syracuse University's SummerStart program is a six-week academic/residential program, offered during summer session II. It is designed to ensure students a smooth transition from high-school to college. This six-week program provides pre-freshmen with an opportunity to become familiar with the academic, social, and cultural life at Syracuse University. For more than 15 years, SummerStart has a curfew policy for students and we are in the process of reviewing this policy. This round table discussion will focus on ways to achieve the goals of a summer program without a curfew policy. The discussion will explore how this goal may or may not influence the academic/social expectations.

Facilitator: Michelle Singletary, Director of SummerStart & SSUI, Syracuse University

4. MOOCS (MASSIVE OPEN ONLINE COURSES) AND THEIR IMPLICATIONS FOR THE CHANGING LANDSCAPE OF SUMMER SESSIONS

This interactive concurrent session explores the 21st century phenomenon of MOOCs (Massive Open Online Courses) and their implications for the landscape of summer sessions. This session is planned to assist participants in designing their own summer sessions employing the MOOCs in their institutions of higher education. The findings of this five-year study will provide insight on the success and academic outcomes of aligning with the NAASS (North American Association of Summer Sessions) mission.

Presenter: Vykuntapathi Ihota, Director of Summer School and Winter Session, Virginia State University

1. SUMMER MARKETING WITH ENGAGEMENT PROGRAMMING AND MICRO-TARGETING

Amphitheater

The University of Oklahoma Summer Session believes in the idea of engaging with students to connect with them about enrolling in summer courses. Whether it's free waffles in the Union or a camel ride on the South Oval, OU Summer Session will do whatever it takes to get the one-on-one interaction with students to tell them how summer can help them get ahead, stay on track, or catch up. In the past and connected it to current students to predict who would typically enroll in summer courses. 2. WRITING FOR SUMMER ACADEME

Rose

Bill Kops, Academic Editor of Summer Academe, along with other members of the SA Editorial Board will talk about the opportunities to publish in Summer Academe. A feature of the revised online journal is a section on papers based on conference presentations. Come and hear how you can convert your conference presentation into a published paper. This interactive session will provide practical tips on writing for publication in Summer Academe.

Presenter: Bill Kops, Professor and Director of Summer Session University of Manitoba

3. ONLINE UPDATE AND STATE AUTHORIZATION - ROUNDTABLE

Online learning continues to be a major education focus for students, especially during summer session. While online is no longer new, there are many current topics that engage higher education and summer leaders on this topic. Come to discuss 'state authorization', SARA, DOE, and what you should be planning to do.

Presenter: Bill McClure, Exec Director, Continuing & Professional Education, University of Massachusetts Amherst

4. STOP THE ""TALK AND DON'T"" CULTURE, LEAD THE ""THINK AND DO"" MOVEMENT: HOW NC STATE INCREASED CAMPUS RESOURCE PROGRAMMING BY 400% THROUGH LEADERSHIP AND WELLNESS

Roberts

A main goal of the Accelerated Summer Academic Programs (ASAP) at NC State has been to acclimate incoming students to campus life and get them involved in high impact practices. The previous 4 years we struggled to have campus resources offer programming or even be readily available during the summer months. This year we turned a corner and increased programming by 400. This presentation will focus on the creation of the Leadership and Wellness Certificate, how we tied it into the goals of student success and campus programming, how to leverage offices to provide programs on their terms, and how to market the experience. NC State's strategic plan has listed service, leadership, and wellness as goals for students to strengthen over the coming years. Maybe that isn't your college/university's mission, but this program will provide the basic structure for you to push campus resources out of hibernation.

Presenters: Owen Hooper Assistant Director for Innovative Education, University of South Florida and Ginny Shephard, Accelerated Summer Academic Programs Grad Assistant, North Carolina State University
